Speculative Applications

Many individuals find work experience in the country through their networks, making speculative applications (Going Global is useful here) and also through social media (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn)

www.embassy-worldwide.com

Using Chambers of Commerce in the country is another way of generating a list of potential employers to contact.

Social Media can be a great resource to assist you further when speculatively applying for jobs. For more information visit www.ed.ac.uk/careers/looking-for-work/social-media

Taking Advantage of Time Away

<https://edinburghtata.wordpress.com/> This site contains resources and advice to help you make the most of your time away by reflecting on the experiences you are having – while you are having them. Reflecting like this is important when thinking about selling your experience to employers – it will also help you to see how you have developed personally by going away.

Careers Service

The Careers Service can support you further. For more information visit www.ed.ac.uk/careers pop into the Careers Service to meet our Information Team or book an appointment with a Careers Consultant via MyCareerHub
